

John Meccia
President & CEO
CMS Technology, Inc.

Mr. Meccia is the President & CEO of CMS Technology, Inc., a specialty chemical and technology company focused on food safety. He was previously Global Vice President of Paper Converting and Graphic Arts for Henkel Corporation, one of the world's largest chemical companies (~50,000 employees in approximately 120 countries). Mr. Meccia has over 30 years of experience leading sales, marketing, manufacturing and technical operations at the corporate and international level. Prior to Henkel, he was with National Starch and Chemical, where he directed the North American Paper Packaging business and created a start-up service consulting business. Mr. Meccia has also served as a Senior Executive for Research and Development and Field Technical Solutions and has extensive overseas manufacturing management experience. Mr. Meccia has served as a board member for the Adhesives and Sealants Council. He earned a B.S. Degree in Chemical Engineering from the University of Illinois.