There is nothing better than a pint of hearty stout on a cold winter night. This beer was tinkered with for over two years before we arrived at a final recipe. The base stout is layered with mountains of cocoa to provide a luscious chocolate flavor. A blend of espresso roasted by Esselon Coffee Roasting in Hadley, Massachusetts is added to enhance the flavors of roasted Carafa malt from Germany. The final product is a full-bodied brew with chocolate and coffee flavors percolating to the brim.

Cambridge Brewing Working Class Hero

American Saison with CitrusBarley, wheat, rye and oats combine with hops and citrus peel in this new American saison. Created by men and women who have forged their own paths to craft your beer, here's a liquid reward for heroic people everywhere who take pride in an honest day's work. Saison was historically brewed to be served to the seasonal workers, miners, and other hard-working men and women who needed to slake their thirst. Made with a wide variety of grains, hops, and occasionally spices, saison's hallmarks were its dry palate and refreshing drinkability. We brew Working Class Hero with this in mind, and add our own American interpretation via orange peel, lemon peel, and just a touch of Citra hops, complemented by our house Belgian yeast strain. We hope you dig it!

Grimm Galaxy Pop

Dry hopped Berliner Weisse style ale brewed with galaxy hops vanilla and milk sugar. Pours very hazy pale golden/straw color with a 1-2 finger dense white head with awesome retention, that reduces to a small cap that lasts. Nice dense soapy lacing clings on the glass, with a moderate amount of streaming carbonation retaining the cap. Fantastic appearance. Aromas of big lightly tart lemon, lime, orange, grapefruit, peach, pear, pineapple, passion fruit, papaya, mango, melon, guava, berry, citrus peel/zest, hay, straw, grass, vanilla, cream, wheat, cracker, white bread, light pepper/lacto funk, and yeast earthiness. Damn nice aromas with great balance and complexity of fruity/acidic yeast, citrus/tropical hops, vanilla, lactose, and pale/wheat malt notes; with great strength. Taste of big lightly tart lemon, lime, orange, grapefruit, peach, pear, pineapple, passion fruit, papaya, mango, melon, guava, berry, citrus peel/zest, hay, straw, grass, vanilla, cream, wheat, cracker, white bread, light pepper/lacto funk, and yeast earthiness. Mild lactic tartness and zesty/grassy bitterness on the finish. Lingering notes of tart lemon, lime, orange, grapefruit, peach, pear, pineapple, passion fruit, papaya, mango, melon, guava, berry, citrus peel/zest, hay, straw, grass, vanilla, cream, wheat, cracker, white bread, light pepper/lacto funk, and yeast earthiness on the finish for a while. Awesome complexity, robustness, and balance of fruity/acidic yeast, citrus/tropical hops, vanilla, lactose, and pale/wheat malt flavors; with a nice malt/bitter/tartness balance, and zero cloying/puckering flavors after the finish. Lightly increasing dryness from lingering tartness. Medium-high carbonation and light-medium body; with a very smooth, creamy/grainy, and lightly acidic/sticky mouthfeel that is fantastic. Zero warming alcohol as expected of 4.8%. Overall this is an outstanding dessert style Berliner weisse! All around awesome complexity, robustness, and balance of fruity/acidic yeast, citrus/tropical hops, vanilla, lactose, and pale/wheat malt flavors; very smooth and refreshing to drink, with the mildly acidic/drying finish. Tastes like tropical fruit ice cream in a way. Awesome balance of fruity Lacto, juicy hops, vanilla, lactose, and malts. Not overly sweet or lactic either way. A highly enjoyable offering, unique, and spot on style example as expected.

Night Shift Brewing Whirlpool

Our flagship New England pale ale is brewed with a malt bill of wheat, oats, and barley; Mosaic and Summer hops are used in the kettle, and we dry-hop with another round of Mosaic. Whirlpool pours straw yellow and slightly hazy. Expect aromas of peach and mango, with notes of ripe citrus and a crisp finish. We canned Whirlpool for the first time in 2014, and since then, thousands and thousands of 4-packs have found their way out into the world. Regulars and staff members alike call it their "desert-island beer", and its popularity with the NSB running club earned it the moniker "Night Shift Gatorade". With low ABV and sky-high flavor, this beer is perfect for pretty much any situation. ABV: 4.5%. Sold In: MA, NY, ME. Recommended Glassware: Pint. Tasting Notes: Soft, Citrus, Juicy. Pairings: Pizza, balsamic salad, cheddar. First Released: 3/5/2014

Paradox Brewing Pilsner

A Czech inspired Lager Malts Pilsner, Caramel PILS Hops Northern Brewer, Czech Saaz. The Paradox Story— A revamp of our original Paradox - which was a Blonde Ale - we have made some tweaks to the yeast of fermentation to bring you the new, improved, Paradox Pilsner. Although the Pilsner is not the most cerebral of our beers it is one of our most popular efforts as it combines craft brewing philosophy with easy drinking acumen. As soon as you flip the top off the bottle you know you're in for something special. While the bright golden hue hints at a great quaffing beer, the explosion of passionfruit and citrus aromas - the signature of the Riwaka hop variety - leave you in no doubt you're in for more than mere refreshment. On the palate the initial biscuity malt sweetness is soon joined by those zingy tropical fruit hop notes and leads into a racy tart finish. This beer is flavour-packed yet crisp and thirst quenching - that's the paradox! When your thirst is finally slaked try another glass with: Barbecued seafood, Marlborough green lipped mussels, Freshly caught scallops, Replace your <enter generic mass produced, flavourless pale lager here> with a Paradox.

A low gravity india pale ale brewed with spelt and wheat. 16 ounce can into tulip glass, canned on 10/4/2017. Pours fairly hazy/cloudy medium golden yellow color with a 1-2 finger fairly dense and fluffy white head with good retention, that reduces to a small cap that lingers. Light spotty soapy lacing clings on the glass, with a fair amount of streaming carbonation. Aromas of big ruby red grapefruit, tangerine, lemon, peach, pineapple, mango, melon, citrus peel/rind, light pepper, pine, wheat, cracker, white bread, and floral/grassy earthiness. Damn nice aromas with great balance and complexity of citrus/pine hops and moderate pale malt notes; with great strength. Taste of big ruby red grapefruit, tangerine, lemon, peach, pineapple, mango, melon, citrus peel/rind, light pepper, pine, wheat, cracker, white bread, and floral/grassy earthiness. Light-moderate pine, citrus peel, floral, grassy bitterness on the finish. Lingering notes of ruby red grapefruit, tangerine, lemon, peach, pineapple, mango, melon, citrus peel/rind, light pepper, pine, wheat, cracker, white bread, and floral/grassy earthiness on the finish for a good bit. Awesome complexity, robustness, and balance of citrus/pine hops and moderate pale malt flavors; with an awesome malt/bitterness balance, and zero astringent hop flavors after the finish. Moderately crisp/clean finishing. Light-moderate increasing dryness from bitterness. Medium carbonation and light-medium body; with a very smooth, moderately bread/grainy, and fairly sticky balanced mouthfeel that is fantastic. Zero warming alcohol as expected of 3.8%. Overall this is an outstanding session IPA! All around awesome complexity, robustness, and balance of citrus/pine hops and moderate pale malt flavors; very smooth,

Grimm Lambo Door

Double IPA brewed with El Dorado + Simcoe + Citra. Look - Pours a hazy golden orange, although not quite as bright as other NEIPA's, with a nice head that dissipates quickly. Smell - The smell jumps right out of the glass. Strong aroma of sweet, tropical fruits. Taste - The taste follows the smell with strong flavors of papaya and strawberry as well as peach, mango and surprisingly, Starbursts. Very little alcohol coming through, and almost no bitterness. Although maybe a little sweet. Feel - Light carbonation and a medium body. Overall - A really nice beer that is pretty light and bright for a DIPA. Not mind blowing, but certainly enjoyable and well worth seeking out again.

Night Shift Brewing Pfaffenheck

Style: German-style pilsner. ABV: 5.2%. Tasting Notes: Clean, crisp, zesty. Description: Bright, traditional pilsner. Floor-malted German grain delivers soft notes of honey and biscuit, balanced by a floral, zesty hop profile. The Story: Believe it or not, Pfaffenheck was born from a bet. When co-founder Rob Burns' German family heard about the brewery, they put him up to the challenge: brew a traditional German Pilsner. They weren't sure what to expect from a crew of American brewers, but low and behold, the NSB team delivered a crisp, refreshing beer that hearkened back to the Bavarian homeland. To honor the roots of this lager, we named it after the town Rob's family is from: Pfaffenheck! Pfaffenheck is as reliable as they come - bright and effervescent, with a subtly sweet and bready finish. One sip and you might just find yourself at a long beer hall table, clinking glasses with Germans in lederhosen.
