

CHRISTIAN AMATO

PRESIDENT

As an innovative business professional with more than 20 years of experience, Christian leads the strategic direction of CMA focusing on growth, opportunities, and client results. In his role as president, Christian is shaping the company's overall business vision, analyzing expansion opportunities, and delivering growth. He oversees the organization's operational leaders, including business development, web development, marketing, association management, human resources and finance business units.

Christian's executive experience has touched a broad range of industries from financial services, disaster recovery and resiliency planning, residential building, in vitro fertilization and lighting manufacturing. Currently serving on several boards and committees throughout the NJ and PA areas, Christian is committed to helping organizations achieve their growth potential through his marketing and business operation experiences.