

Mike Saoud

Mike, a Kean University graduate with a degree in business, co-founded FreezPak Logistics in 2001 alongside his brother, Dave Saoud. Currently serving as the Co-CEO, Mike has propelled FreezPak beyond its origins as a third-party food logistics company, offering an array of services encompassing transportation and temperature-controlled solutions. His leadership has steered the company into the realms of automation and IT innovation.

Incorporating robotics into FreezPak's operations, Mike spearheaded the deployment of 131 robots in various markets around the United States. As the driving force behind warehouse operations, he takes a strategic approach to introduce new software technology, aiming to enhance overall efficiency within the organization.
